

Game Complete

Ah, but I see you're leaving so soon... that's too bad! Alas... the only way to leave this room is by helping us with a truly romantic and tragic ending to our period drama. You must kill my love interest! Oh... but don't be too sad. It happens all the time.

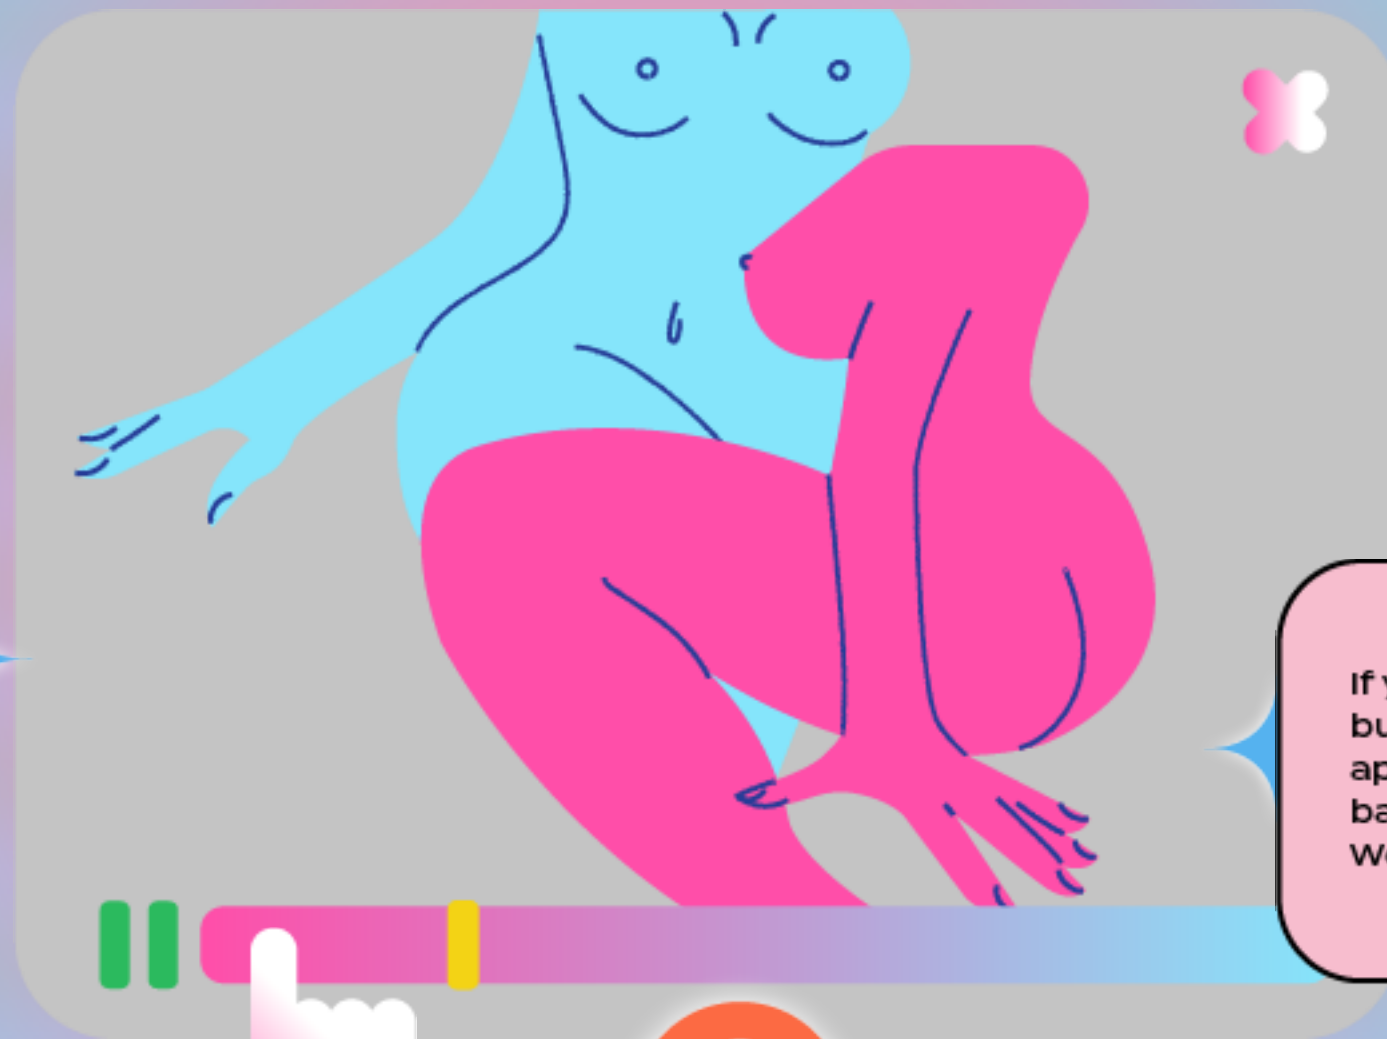

See that key over there? You can pick that up and use it to pull the jail cell door on top of me, locking me up for good! An exit should open somewhere when the door is fully closed.

These lovely ladies and gentlemen in the audience need to be paired up for the ceremony. If you can push them together to make three couples, an exit might appear for you! But are you sure you don't want to stay for the cake cutting?

If you can collect all the censorship buttons around the rooms, a window will appear to guide you out. But please... come back soon and spend some time with us! We'll be waiting...
